7. This new page displays all the available services where you can share your RSS feed. For the sake of this tutorial, we will only use Facebook and Twitter.

a. For Facebook:

i. Click on the Facebook button.

ii. Click on the Connect to Facebook button.

iii. Fill in the fields with your Facebook username and password and click connect.

iv. You will be redirected back to the twitterfeed website where you will be able to choose from displaying the feed in your wall or in one of your pages (if you have previously created them in Facebook).

v. Finally, click "Create Service", leaving the rest of the fields unmodified.

b. For twitter:

i. Click on the Twitter button.

ii. Click on the Authenticate Twitter button.

iii. Fill in the fields with your Twitter username and password and click allow.

iv. You will be redirected back to the twitterfeed website.

v. Finally, click "Create Service", leaving the rest of the fields unmodified.

8. Once you are done creating the desired services, click "All Done!" You should now read: "Congratulations, you have successfully configured a feed!", finalizing this tutorial.
