Your eduroam Service is Moving This Fall!

Internet2 is expanding the eduroam service with an all new eduroam administrator portal and back end to enable scaling to support K12 community. You will see more changes next year as we work with the eduroam Advisory Committee to identify, prioritize and roll out new features.

What you should know

1. Internet2 will be moving your organization’s eduroam traffic to the new infrastructure in November.
2. This move is designed to enable service continuity for you and your community, but you have a few things to do to make sure this is the case.
3. You can schedule when your eduroam traffic is moved by signing up for a predefined November eduroam-move date. If you do nothing, your organization’s eduroam traffic will be moved no later than November 30. Either way, we will verify the date/time that this change will happen with your organization’s eduroam administrator and technical contact(s).

What you should do before November 1

To make sure this move goes smoothly for your organization, please do the following:

1. ASAP: Place a WATCH on the pages of interest in this wiki by clicking on WATCHING in the upper right. This will send you notifications about any updates made in the coming weeks.
2. By October 15: Ensure your administrator and technical contacts are up to date in the ANYROA Administrator Portal.
3. Between October 25 and November 5: Fill out the transition request and sign up for one of the transition waves. If you don’t sign up, we will move your organization no later than November 30.

We also recommend that you join the eduroam-admins@internet2.edu list if you're not already a member. We will be sending status updates to that list as we transition the community to the new infrastructure.

Resources

- Schedule when your eduroam service moves
- If you ONLY run eduroam hot spots or "SPs," update your legal agreement.
- Transition FAQ
- Weekly Progress
- Background on what’s driving this change
- Requirements for eduroam Growth paper

Let us know

- Have questions or an idea? Contact us.
- Contact the eduroam Advisory Committee