NET+ Google Cloud Platform Informational Webinar on Wednesday, Nov. 20

Are you curious about the NET+ Google Cloud Platform program? Wondering if your campus needs an institutional agreement for GCP? Trying to find out more about the various parties involved in the program and how to get started?

Internet2 and Google have worked with Carahsoft, the distributor for the NET+ GCP program, is hosting a Webinar this Wednesday, November 20, 2019, covering these topics and more. The webinar will feature two campus leads of the service validation team, Bob Flynn from Indiana University and John Bailey from Washington University in St. Louis. The webinar starts at 2:00 pm Eastern time and will last approximately 45 minutes and is a good introduction to the program for procurement and contractual specialists as well as cloud IT generalists.
