

Domain Science influence on wiki choices

an ICERM use case

a group of mathematicians (could be physicists or other interests that have particular typeset requirements) -- they have a need to be able to enter mathematics -- which, in the short term, seems to mean they'd like a wiki product where they could enter LATEX, and it would display "properly"