Trust and Identity Consultations

Internet2 Trust and Identity working groups produce reports, recommendations, standards, best practices, and related documents. These are then provided to the community for review in the form of a consultation. In addition, policy and other documents developed by Internet2 Trust and Identity division staff may undergo the community consultation process to gather broader input and awareness before becoming finalized.

Consultations are typically open for 4-6 weeks for community review and input. The feedback gathered during the consultation is taken into consideration in the final draft of the document.

Thank you to our community members who take the time to review and comment on documents during the consultation period.
